

This is a bad thing?

Written by Barthélemy Barbancourt
Monday, 26 July 2010 08:30 -

The early morning shooting at the station, on Washington Avenue N. near Broadway, killed Gilbert Noland Jordan, 28, of Brooklyn Center, the Hennepin County medical examiner reported. He died at 4:25 a.m. after being taken to Hennepin County Medical Center, as were two other unidentified men who were also shot. One suffered life-threatening wounds and another was shot in the hand.

Public records show Jordan has been convicted of crimes ranging from narcotics to theft and served time in St. Cloud prison.

So one scumbag shoots and kills another scumbag. I fail to see how the elimination of Mr. Jordan isn't a net gain for society.