

Inflation, depressions and possible paths for the USA

Written by Barthélemy Barbancourt
Tuesday, 02 June 2009 12:04 -

This is an open discussion thread about what we expect to happen if/when the Obama Administration bankrupts that United States of America.

I know that some are hoarding gold, silver, ammo and even water. I'm not doing any of those things as I don't think hyper-inflation and a bankrupt federal government will effect me as much as it will effect the unionized government employees and the moochers.

If you have an idea of what you think WILL happen, please let me know. If possible draw an parallel to a country or society where this has happened. Hyper-inflation is hardly new to the globe so we should have some guidelines as to what we should expect.